

Call Yourself a Scientist by Jonny Berliner

G D C D

If you start with a hypothesis, which is kind of like a guess,

G D C D

If you try to falsify it, by submitting it to tests,

Em Bm C Eb

Draw conclusions from your data, for your peers to rip to shreds.

G G/F# Em D C D

You can call yourself a scientist, yeah you can

G G/F# Em D C D

If you make your beliefs stronger by not assuming that you're right,

G G/F# Em D C D

If you always know you're wrong, just not as wrong as others might be,

Em Bm C Eb

If uncertainty's your enemy, and you use measurement to fight,

G G/F# Em D C D

You can call yourself a scientist, yeah you can

C D Em C D Em

You can study English Literature or History of Art,

C D Em B7 C D

But if your subject's that subjective then the truth is in your heart,

C D Em C D Em

You can study social sciences but you're gonna have to be bold,

C D Em B7 C D

It's hard to prove your model's true when your variables aren't controlled,

C D Em C D Em

But if you seek to find the kind of truth that's out there in the world,

C D G G/F# Em C D

You can call yourself a sci - en - tist, yeah you can

Chords as verse 1

If you don't assume a pattern's there, when you see a correlation,

If you back up all your theories with a causal explanation,

If a newspaper misquotes you just to cause a cheap sensation,

You can call yourself a scientist, yeah you can x 3
